DEATHS.

On Saturday, the 21st ult. at Mount Trenchard, county of Limerick, the seat of her grandfather, S. E. Rice, Esq. Mary Theodosia Cecil, second daughter of Sir Aubrey de Vere, Bart. and not Katharine Louisa, as erroneously stated in our last; the latter was most providentially rescued, when in almost equal danger with her sister. They had gone to bathe in the Shannon, at Mount Trenchard, early in the morning, but the tide had unfortunately begun to ebb, and venturing too far, they were hurried beyond their depth. One of the women servants in attendance, succeeded in matching the younger out, but the elder sunk, and could not be found for nearly an hour, when every effort for her restoration proved ineffectual. Miss Mary de Vere was a young lady of singular and most intellectual beauty, of great natural abilities, and highly cultivated mind: she was not less remarkable for gentleness and goodness of disposition, united with pure and fervent piety, than for quickness and intelligence, and the variety and extent of her accomplishments: she was only in her fourteenth year.
